JCCCNC presents How to Find a Job in a Recession

SAN FRANCISCO (June 1, 2009) - The Japanese Cultural and Community Center of Northern California (JCCCNC) is pleased to announce a workshop on How to Find a Job in a Recession featuring Career Coaches Janelle Sasaki and Niki Baccam which will be held on Friday, July 10, 2009 from 5:00 – 6:30 p.m., at the JCCCNC, 1840 Sutter Street, San Francisco. This workshop is the first part of a series. Follow-up workshops (dates to be announced) will be on resume critique, interviewing skills and elevator pitch.

Are you thinking about making a career change or looking for a job in this tough economic market? Do you need help in refining your resume? This workshop will provide you with the tools on how and where to find available jobs in your field, fine tuning your resume to have yours stand out above the others and how to build relationships with others in your field. Janelle and Niki will provide the practical solutions to help you on your way to your career!

Janelle Sasaki has over 14 years of Human Resources leadership experience. She holds a Professional in Human Resources (PHR) Certification and obtained her bachelors degree from the University of California at Berkeley. Currently, Janelle serves as the University Relations Manager at Cisco.

Niki Baccam has over 10 years of experience in Human Resources and recruitment in the semiconductor and networking industries. She holds a bachelor degree from Upper Iowa University. Currently, Niki serves as the University Relations Manager at Cisco.

This workshop is free for JCCCNC members and $10 for non-members. For more information or reserve your space, please contact (415) 567-5505. Space is limited so call today.
